Canadian Cloud Computing and RackForce Partner to Deliver Full Service Cloud in Canada

Kelowna & Kitchener - RackForce, a leading Canadian Cloud Service Provider, today welcomed Canadian Cloud Computing as a reseller partner to deliver cloud computing solutions built on the RackForce cloud.

Canadian Cloud provides enterprise cloud solutions to small and medium-sized businesses who want to leverage the flexibility, scalability and value of cloud computing, but who lack the specialized in-house expertise to do so. Canadian Cloud focuses on those businesses where legal, regulatory or strategic factors require that their data remain securely in Canada.

"This partnership will expand RackForce's presence in the innovation-driven Southwestern Ontario market," commented Brian Fry, RackForce Co-Founder and Chief Marketing Officer. "Both of our companies are pioneers in cloud computing in Canada, and together we can offer an unmatched combination of custom cloud solutions and a stable cloud platform."

"By partnering with RackForce we can build and deliver advanced cloud solutions based on their secure and scalable cloud platform," says Wally Kowal, Canadian Cloud's Founder and President. "We can combine our own innovation and flexibility with RackForce's advanced platform to help companies on their journey to the cloud."

Both companies are VMware partners and promote the security, features and tools of VMware's suite of virtualization and cloud management products as the best choice for public, private and hybrid cloud computing.
